Hit-Run Crashes Reported

Security reports twelve accidents this year, taken place in BYU lots. All involve automobile. In no more than one driver been cited. None in BYU parking

These are among Security's accident reports: "In the Harris Fine Arts Center parking lot, Vehicle One backed into Vehicle Two and drove off without reporting the accident. Estimated damage—$30.00."

"Driver of Vehicle One said he parked his car in front of the Smart Adminstration Bldg. When he came out he saw a car in front back into his vehicle and leave without stopping. Estimated damage—$25.00."

$350 DAMAGES Hit and run accidents have been reported in the Wilkinson Center, Jesse Knight Bldg., HFAC and Smith Family Living Center parking lots. Reported damages on this year's 12 fender-benders total $350.

Phony notes are often written and left with the damaged vehicle. Security reports. One hit and run driver wrote: "Dear Sir, I have struck your car. I'm writing this note because people who saw the accident are standing around, and they think I am going to write my name and address. I'm not. I'm just faking out these people."

LITTLE RECONCILE

The damaged vehicles' drivers' only recourse is to report the accident to Security. But Security usually has no clues or evidence to work with in tracking down the offender. In only one case did Security get enough information to

Dr. Ray Hillam to Give Possible Viet Solutions

World Conflicts Week ends today

The featured event of the day is a debate between Eugene England, professor at the LDS Institute at Stanford and John Sorenson, a former BYU professor who is now engaged in Research on Vietnam with General Research Corp.

The debate is at 12:10 p.m. in the Varsity Theater.

"Possible Solutions" is the theme. Dr. Ray Hillam will speak on at 3:10 in 180 Jesse Knight Bldg. Dr. Hillam, of the Political Science Department specializes in Southeast Asian studies. He spent last year studying and teaching in South Vietnam.

MORMONISM AND WAR

Later, at 7:30 in A170 Jesse Knight Bldg., a panel consisting of Eugene England, Rodney Turner and Richard Bushman will discuss the topic "Mormonism and War." Dr. Turner is a member of the Graduate Religion Department and Dr. Bushman teaches honor student history.

Supply and bombing, two of the major problems in modern-day warfare, conventional or insurgent—were discussed Thursday by a panel composed of Dr. Paul Hyer, Dr. Ray Hillam and Dr. Russel Horuchi.

Dr. Hyer, of the History department, had definite doubts about the effectiveness of the bombing. He said that, "while some strategic bombing may be good, North Vietnam is not an industrial state and there is very little fuel to burn."

DEHUMANIZATION

"The bombing has not accomplished what the military had thought it would," remarked Dr. Hyer. "It has, however, caused the American people to 'dehumanize the enemy—to think of them not as people but as things—and the more we can do to increase their losses and decrease ours the better.' This is not good because we must not forget that the north Vietnamese people have feelings too."

Dr. Hillam spoke mostly about the subject of supply. He mentioned that there has been no difficulty for the guerrillas to get supplies in the past.

TWO SOURCES

"There are two major areas from which the Viet Cong gets supplies—local sources and external sources." Dr. Hillam mentioned that the local sources seem to be of a greater magnitude than had been thought.

"What do we learn from this?" asked Dr. Hillam. "We learn simply that you don't stop supplies with bombs."

Dr. Russel Horuchi, of the Geography department, said that in his opinion the State Department is thinking like the man who was concerned about keeping the horse in the barn when the horse was already outside." He mentioned that, "in his opinion strategic bombing is 'crucial'."

"If we want to stop the supplies from reaching the men in south Vietnam, we should go to the source—in other words bomb Haiphong," said Dr. Horuchi.

Cats Head For Cactus Country

By Glen Willardson
Sports Editor

BYU's basketball team opens a two-day series in cactus country tonight in an attempt to smooth out a thorny 4-4 record in Western Athletic Conference competition this year.

Tonight the Y cagers meet Arizona State in Tempe at 8 p.m. and tomorrow they will be at Arizona starting at 2 p.m. Both games will be aired by KSL radio (1160) and tomorrow's game will be carried on regional TV.

Coach Stan Walts' team has compiled a 13-10 season record and a winning season is assured regardless of the outcome of these two games.

But the Cougars are playing with the fantasy of a possible post-season invitation to the NIT.

Entertainment

The common complaint of students regarding dull weekends cannot apply by any stretch of the imagination this week as BYU is brimming with dances, plays, movies and concerts.

In retrospect to the complaints viewed earlier in the Universe concerning the typical BYU male and coed, this column is dedicated to interesting dates and individual activities.

NEW OPENING

Drama at BYU is excellent and Friday finds the "Majority of One" opening in the Pardoe Theatre in the Fine Arts Center. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m. and tickets are available in the box offices in the lobby.

Keeping with the drama field "An Evening Of Unconventional Theatre" winds up a two week run in the Marquette Arena Theatre also in the Harris Fine Arts Center. Curtain goes up at 8:15 p.m. Friday and Saturday.

FEELON FOLLIES

Every year the inmates of the Utah State Prison present Felon Follies, a show of their creative talent. The program will run March 1, 2, 8, 9, 14, 15, and 16, in the prison Auditorium in Draper, Utah.

SALT LAKE TOUR

All Salt Lake residents may omit the next paragraph. The Senior Class is sponsoring a tour of Salt Lake which will take in the popular tourist attractions. Dr. Russel Rich will guide the trip which leaves Saturday from the main entrance of the ELWC at 8:15 a.m. Temple Square, the Beehive House, Welfare Square, and the "This is the Place" Monument are on the itinerary. All students who haven't been to Salt Lake would enjoy the trip. The cost is 75 cents and tickets are available at the information desk of the ELWC.

EDS' AND COEDS STAG DANCE

Dancing to the Rapid Transit is the order of the day Saturday at 8:30 in the 134 RPE. All dateless coeds and eds are reminded this will be the action spot Saturday. The cost is 25 cents.

REGIONALITY

Paul White plays for the regionality dance Saturday in the ballroom. Those stagers who prefer a little different type of swinging should plan for this budget card activity. In lieu of the budget card 50 cents will gain you admission.

CAMPUS FILJCKS

"The Battle of the Bulge" headlines in the Varsity Theater, while "El Cid" screens in the JS, Auditorium. University Cinema features "A Tale of Two Cities." Campus movies are here for your enjoyment. Let's fill them up.

GUEST REVIEWER

Larry Wright reviewed "Bonnie and Clyde." Here are his comments: "Bonnie and Clyde" is easily the year's best picture. If you haven't seen it, do. We credit it will receive numerous Academy Awards. Producer-star Warren Beatty creates believable characters by depicting the ordinary and routine—brothers scuffle together, in-laws get on each other's nerves, men tell jokes, old people just get wrinkled, no wise."

WEATHERED ART

An Art Show in the gallery of the Harris Fine Arts Center features a weathered wood exhibit. See what you think of it, for a certainty it's different.

FREE CONCERT

A free band concert in the de Jong Concert Hall is scheduled at 8:15 p.m. Friday. The California State College at Long Beach Band and the Utah State University band will share the double bill.

BITS & PIECES

The Book of Mormon is played on records in the Stereo Room every morning at 7:15 a.m.

The Eight Stake Fireside will feature a panel discussion in the Smith Fieldhouse at 7 p.m. Sunday.

BYU vs. U of Arizona gymnastics meet is Friday in the Fieldhouse at 8 p.m.

Concerts Impromptu will be presented in the Memorial hall Saturday at 9:30 a.m.

Don't forget the Saturday night tournament in the Game Center at 7 p.m.

By the way, if you want "special" gift wrapping for free in the Bookstore all you have to do is ask.

Have a good weekend.

IGNORANCE

Editors:

I must express my gratitude to the Universe and Pierre Hathaway for the timely article reminding out-of-staters about Utah's non-resident student sticker requirements.

One dislikes admitting ignorance, but while I was aware of the safety inspection and non-resident permit regulations, I had rather naively assumed the non-resident deadline to be identical with the safety inspection deadline.

The article, appearing on the last possible day before tickets may be issued, is certainly helpful in combating misapprehension. It leaves little time to obtain the safety inspection and make any necessary repairs before Security closes this afternoon, however.

At least we now know we are operating our cars illegally, which is certainly a useful piece of knowledge. As out-of-state students, we are certainly indebted to the Universe for its timely reporting.

You dots.

BILLIARDS

Editor:

I was interested to see Games Area sent a billiard table to the competition recently participated in. Your report of their performance published the billiard game conspicuously absent. I reflect on our attitude to the game?

Some time ago the Universe criticized for suggesting tables for the games at the students pointed out that those who know the mind of the Lord did not approve the game. Recently another subject to the same name (Ricks College) installed tables in their student center.

Could the difference be due more to the location than the source?

Anderson of BYU Credit Union...

Tactics Exposed

By Jacque Campbell
University Wire Editor

Blaine Anderson Manager-Treasurer of the BYU Credit Union, gave tips on installment buying to the students at the recent seminar on consumer tactics of the salesman in a seminar Thursday. The seminar was sponsored by the Senior class.

Anderson talked about high pressure tactics employed by door-to-door salesmen. He also mentioned methods used by car salesmen.

Car salesmen use the platoon system. Anderson said that the salesmen takes the prospective buyers into what is termed the "sweatshop" and give enough pressure until the buyer leaves having signed a contract.

SPLIT CONTRACT

Anderson warned against split contracts, where the down payment for the car is financed with a small finance company and the remainder with a primary finance corporation, such as General Motor Acceptance Corporation or a bank. He gave one example where the buyer paid more to finance the down payment of $700 than the remaining $200.

Anderson said some dealers will refuse to service a car if it is not financed by them. He said that car guarantees are not dealer but factory guaranteed. Any authorized dealer has to service the car, no matter how it was financed, he stated.

Anderson grouped the high pressure salesmen into the "telephone hucksters" who try to get persons to subscribe to magazines.

Hit And Run

cite a driver for leaving the scene of the accident.

Security warns, however, of the seriousness of this offense. The Utah Driver Handbook explains the state laws: "The penalty for hit and run driving is severe—not less than a month in jail or a fine of not less than $100, with a maximum of a year in jail plus a $3,000 fine."

RESPONSIBILITY

In the event of an accident, the driver should try to inform the owner of the second car, explains the handbook. If this is not possible, the driver should leave a note on the damaged car, listing his "name and address."

sizes, and buy other items with a survey appeal; the advertising salesmen who assure people they are not paying for the article but the postage and handling or some other miscellaneous service. He warned that most of these items cost more for the postage and handling than the product itself.

LAST CHANCE

Anderson mentioned the last chance salesmen who assure the customer that this very night is the last chance to get this item at this price. He also talked about the "referral approach" in which you get so much for every machine that your friends buy. Anderson said he would like to see someone who ever got any money from their friends purchase.

He warned against the salesman who includes in his sale pitch that he is an elder's quorum president, returned missionary or holds any other church position. Anderson said that he felt that the selling of the Church along with the product is not an honest sales technique.

PROTEST INDEED

Editor: The recent outcry against the cultural exchange between the U.S. and the U.S.S.R. was a very much needed thing here at BYU. The progressives in the Cultural Department have been conspiring against us to bring to BYU the finest in the arts, and it was about time that a Utah traditionalist spoke out for our safety. We do not want outsiders coming in and disrupting our stagnant equilibrium.

The individuals who attended and enjoyed Khrushchev's performance may be in trouble with their consciences by now. Imagine enjoying a masterful concert of music while Americans are dying in Southeast Asia.

I recommend to the Cultural Department to confine their efforts to military bands and the like, so that we may never for a moment forget our commitment in Southeast Asia. Perhaps then we will have a reason to wash our hands.

'REEVE IS PATHETIC'

Editor:

The most pathetic thing I've seen this year is R. K. Reeve's Wednesday column.

He obviously suffers from an information shortage.

Reeve, like others, fell into a carefully conceived trap. The enjoyment of good music or the excitement of a circus makes us feel good and want to be friends. We say to ourselves, these people are so much like us; how could they be bad?

We are now more willing to accept co-existence and increased trading and more leniency toward Communism both here and abroad.

We read further in Reeve's column.

He feels "we should send more 'cultured' Americans to Russia." He confesses the anti-Communism in many Americans feel with "anti-culture symptoms."

Reeve ended his consistent article with a tearful lament about the V.C. getting burned.

He lacks in too many ways to be a political columnist for the Daily Universe.

IN PRAISE OF STUDENTS

Editor:

Interesting report of Steve and Jaron of their attendance at NSA conference recently. I thought it might be interesting to note that a price is paid for such laxity (not found on this campus I hasten to add).

In colleges and universities generally there are an estimated 6,000,000 students. (Of these 600,000 have emotional problems requiring medical and psychiatric help.)

If the same ratio were found on the Y Campus there would be about 200 of you students "storming" the Health Center for help for emotional problems—please don't!

Furthermore, at least 68 percent were not minor disturbances.

I write this to commend the students of BYU. I love every one of you. (I can say that at my age.)

Have You Wondered About

SPEED READING AT BYU

What is the strongest feature of this program?

Here are some answers from past students:

"It proved successful."

"The teacher had a great interest in helping us improve."

"It helped me with all my studying and reading."

"It proved to me that I can be a fast reader."

Is this course comparable to others?

The fee isn't; it's consistent with the student's budget.

The results are. Our students usually double and triple their reading rates.

When does the next course begin?

Dates: March 4-April 8 (Mon. & Wed. sections)
March 7-April 11 (Thurs. & Sat. section)

Thurs. & Sat., 6:00-7:30 p.m.

Trailers May Cut Living Cost

by Larleen

Universe Hints Writer

Ed. Note: Larleen is a husband and wife team writing helpful hints to students. They welcome suggestions. These should be addressed to the Universe office.

Terry Paul Wynn, a senior journalism student, has recently discovered that the "average college couple" is married when the male is only a sophomore.

For most couples, this is a critical period. Capital is low, and the cost of housing is high. What's the answer? Have you ever considered either renting or buying a trailer?

According to Terry, there are many advantages to be gained from taking this course of action. He says the average rent on a home is about $85 a month plus or minus utilities. If you paid that for 27 months the total would be about $1,755. Then after you stop renting you have nothing to show but a vast knowledge of the under-ground.

Dale Anderson, a senior psychology major, agrees with Terry in this respect. "It is nice to get up in the morning and see something other than plant roots," he comments.

However, for the same amount, one can buy a semi-plush trailer, (with one sun daily, and at the end of his schooling sell it for a nice nest egg until a job materializes.)

The idea of living in a trailer while attending college is not new. Indeed, it is interesting to note that the idea received its impetus if not its origin, with a BYU faculty member, G. Albert Spencer.

When Spencer moved his trailer from Paris, Idaho, and hooked up with BYU facilities, (with administrative approval) he received much publicity. This caused a great uproar, and may have helped to popularize trailer living.

There are several important things one should look for when shopping for a trailer however. Some of them are checking for signs of water leaks on the walls and ceiling, and making sure that the heating source is adequate.

Sinfonietta Will Perform Mon.

The Faculty Sinfonietta will present its second semester concert Monday at 8:15 p.m. in the Madsen Recital Hall.

The program opens with Mozart's "Overture to the Marriage of Figaro," an opera first performed in 1786 and still popular.

The seldom-heard Bach number, "Brandenburg Concerto No. 2," follows.

A more modern note is sounded with "Theme and Four Variations for Piano Solo and String Orchestra" by Hindemith. The work, nicknamed "Four Temperaments," will be conducted by Dr. Darrel Stubbs. Soloist is Robert Smith.

"The Four Temperaments," completed in 1940, has more clarity of tone and form and greater melodic expressiveness than his earlier works.

Saturday, at 9 p.m. in the Memorial Lounge, is impromptu time — Concerts Impromptu. The program features Erasmo Fuentes, from Mexico, comedian Ike Jackson, Rich Adams and other musical groups. The program is under the direction of the Cultural Office.

The Interviewer

Vietnam

by John Apgar

Feature Editor

Mr. Apgar

It's called "World Conflicts Week" but the name may as well be "Vietnam Week." That's the conflict on everyone's mind.

Hai Than Tran and Hanh Thi Vo are a couple of coeds from Saigon, so I asked them a few questions the other day about how the war looks from their viewpoint.

How do the South Vietnamese feel about Ho Chi Minh?

"When he started fighting," spoke up Hai, "he said he was only trying to get rid of the French; but since the French left, he has tried to make us Communists."

Both of the girls think that any popularity the North Vietnamese leaders had in the South diminished considerably during the New Year offensive.

VietNAMESE VIEWPOINT

What do you people think of Americans, I asked.

"Some feel the United States is starting a colony, just as France did—but most of us look at Americans as advisors."

Hanh feels that the Saigon press is as guilty as the American press in giving too much space to the protesters. "Our newspapers often misrepresent the attitudes of the U.S., but then how can they understand if they've never left Saigon?"

Both of the girls agree on one point. The U.S. should carry the war to the North.

"We have always been on the defensive, we should take to offense, especially since the Viet Cong are weak from recent defeats."

TAKE WAR TO NORTH

"We are tired of seeing South Vietnam as the battlefield, maybe if the North had to fight for their homes they would be more willing to talk of peace."

What do the people think of American soldiers?

"Soldiers are the same everywhere. They spend a lot of money to keep themselves in shape, but the people respect them because they are Americans."

The South Vietnamese soldiers have received quite a deal of criticism, do you think it's just?

"Sometimes the soldiers join the army just because they are poor and need the money. They're peasants not soldiers, but we all have a united purpose to drive the Communists out."

SHOULDN'T LEAVE

Some in America talk of pulling U.S. forces out of Vietnam, do you think it would bring the peace?

"If that happened, the Communists would take over all of Southeast Asia. It's what they've always wanted."

Christmas Card Response...

Thankful GI's Reply To Lett

by Brian Robinson
Universe Feature Writer

"I'm writing to tell you how much I appreciate your thoughts about me and all the other guys over here."

This is a statement made by airman first class Larry W. Sparks in reply to one of the many letters which were mailed during "Operation Christmas Card" last December.

Sparks, stationed at the Cam Rahn Bay Air Force Base, added:

"We are always grateful for the protest marches and all the demonstrations. Most of us are ashamed of those who call themselves Americans, those whose every right to protest we are trying to protect here."

"How can we make them see that all things worthwhile come at a price. Our freedom was won at great cost and the only way to keep our freedom is to sacrifice for it. We will win here and we will meet the challenge to our way of life anywhere in the world."

ENCOURAGEMENT

Airman Edwar Cameron, from Middletown, Massachusetts, also stated at Cam Rahn Bay noted:

"It was great to get a letter from home that was a little encouraging. Always we hear of demonstrations against the war and such. It makes it hard to be here when we aren't sure that you at home support us."

"Thank you so much . . . the people here hardly have enough to eat sometimes, we have to help them."

By far the most revealing letter was addressed to Mary Huber, a sophomore majoring in teacher education. It was from specialist fourth class Chis Weirich, an army combat medic from Chicago, Illinois.

Weirich described some of the thoughts and action he had experienced while operating with 101st Airborne in the central highlands.

After patrolling for the tired company man, Weirich, like

"I look the way we did L.A. State we'll win," said Gordon, BYU's stellar high former, who, along with men Dennis Ramsey, elected to represent BYU as er of the Western All-Star and will be the team most likely to break the Wildcat monopoly this year.

Against ASU the Cougars held a score of 77.35-76.45 lead going into the fourth event which is the trampoline. ASU outscored BYU by more than three points in the event and Cougar were not able to completely overcome that margin.

Fun With Photography

Close-up Photography and the Single-Lens Reflex

Before you can believe it crosses will be in bloom. And from then until the next time winter settles down there will be an unlimited field for outdoor close-up photography.

Flowers will probably be the number one interest of most people, although I have seen a fantastic set of slides of caterpillars. I've also thought what an interesting set could be made of the different-colored flies that we have around.

Anyway, to get close enough to such subjects and still have them fill the slide out evenly and be centered properly, you almost have to be able to focus through the lens—hence you need a single-lens reflex camera, such as a Pentax, Canonflex, Leicaflex, Praktiflex, or any number of other brands.

Most of these cameras permit the use of extension tubes between the lens and the camera. These tubes are inexpensive and do not downgrade the quality of the lens like close-up attachments do. With enough extension tubes, you can center and focus on an item as small as a match-head with relative ease.

Modern science has solved another problem with such close-up work, and that is the exposure differential that creeps in as the lens is moved away from the camera. If you have an f/2 lens, f/2 is four inches away from the camera; it becomes f/4 when wide open instead of f/2. Since this is complicated to some people, the Pentax people and some others have produced a camera with a meter built into it that reads through the lens, thus eliminating any worry that the exposure might be incorrect because of the extension tubes.

Close-up stuff is fun, whether it be old photographs, jewelry, seeds, rock specimens, or anything else. Come in and let's talk about it.

Cat Baseball Squad Opens Season in Coast Tourney

Riverside becomes the early season mecca for big-time college baseball again this year when eight collegiate aggregations from around the nation collide March 18-23 in the Second Riverside National Collegiate Baseball Tournament.

Defending tournament champion UCLA heads the list of competitors slated to see action in the 1968 version of the six-day event sponsored by the University of California, Riverside, the Riverside Press-Enterprise and the Riverside Parks and Recreation Department.

Teams representing the East, the South, the Mid-West, the Rocky Mountain region, Southern California and the Pacific Northwest give the tournament its national flavor.

Besides UCLA and host USC, college ball clubs in action during the 1968 tournament will include BYU, Mississippi State University, the University of Kansas, University of Oregon, University of Pittsburgh and the University of Tennessee.

Ref's Job Defined As Unique

By Peter Billick

NEW YORK—Between the exuberance of the winner and the downhearted dismay of the loser we find a creature called an official.

Officials come in assorted sizes and shapes but usually are dressed in the same type of uniforms. All, however, have the same creed—to watch every play of every quarter of every game and to call the plays to the best of their ability as they see them.

Officials are found everywhere—on the field, in the gym, on the track, on the mat, on the diamond, in the pool, to name a few, running around, jumping over, climbing through, and always with whistle ready, looking, looking, looking for some infraction.

Fellow officials rib them, wives adore them, sons and daughters idolize them, and mothers worry about them.

An official is courage in cleats, Spirit in stripes, Wisdom with a whistle and despite the fact that they get paid for their work, they have a devotion to duty above and beyond what one normally finds in a day's work.

MANY SIDES

When the game is close, the officials are incompetent, indecisive and stupid. When it is one-sided they are mereless, whistling happy, carefree and domineering.

To him, an official has never missed a play, called a ball a strike or split a second incorrectly with a stop watch. He has the eye of an eagle, the keen mind of an Einstein, the judgment of Solomon and the speed and graceful motion of Joe DiMaggio and Jesse Owens, all rolled into one.

An official likes trips out of town (with mileage), few training sessions, well-coached teams, considerate coaches, polite players, dry fields, cool, crisp days and quiet satisfaction of having been a part of a perfect football day.

UCLA, BYU and Mississippi State finished one-two-three in the 1967 tournament, which drew more than 14,000 spectators, while host UCR tied for fifth in the eight-team field. Kansas, Oregon, Pitt and Tennessee will be appearing in the tournament for the first time in 1968.

The more than 300 athletes participating in the Riverside National represent the largest single collection of collegiate baseball talent outside the post-season NCAA College World Series held annually in Omaha, Nebraska.

With the players will be some of college baseball's most respected coaches. The list includes Glen Tuckett of BYU, Floyd Temple of Kansas, Paul Gregory of Mississippi State, Don Kirsch of Oregon, Bob Lewis of Pitt, Bill Wright of Tennessee, Art Reiciale of UCLA and Don Edwards of UCR.

The rugged, 28-game tournament, which places a premium on team stamina and pitching strength, is a round-robin affair, with each team facing each other once in the race for the championship trophy.

No team escaped unscathed in the 1967 tourney in which 12 of the 28 ball games were decided by one-run margins. UCLA and BYU ended the week of play with identical 6-1 records, but the Bruins were declared tournament champs by virtue of their victory over BYU. UCLA's only loss came in an opening day battle against Wyoming.

Academic Aid Program Meets With Success

By Roger Gillespie
News Writer

Grant Richards, vice-president of Student Academics, has inaugurated a program of visiting on-campus housing units to acquaint them with academic aids offered by the University.

This is just one more step in an overall program to assist the beleaguered student in his attempts to be successful in his college work.

As many as three times a night, Richards visits apartments and discusses on a personal basis that which all pay lip service to yet oft times fail to apply . . . namely the importance of studying.

HOMEE EVENING
The "academic home evening" as it could be called is so arranged to give students practical information on services offered by the University and how to go about using them.

"All too often we have found," says Richards, "that the services extended by the school go unused because the underclassmen are not aware that they are available or that anyone can use them."

Taking a page from the book of Paul H. Dama, he counseils that we should find a time each day in which to study and then use that time faithfully. Thus our ability to learn and retain will increase proportionally.

RESPONSE

Since the inception of this program in November, Richards has visited scores of apartments and talked with hundreds of students. What has been the response?

"What it does more than anything else," mentioned Joan Hukken of complex 7-D in Wymount Terrace, "is that it gives us practical help in our study habits."

Undergraduate Social Work Organization will hold its first meeting Monday, at 8 p.m. in 2201 Smith Family Living Center.

The IOC approved the new club's constitution and by-laws on Tuesday. This is the first year a major has been offered in undergraduate social work, and the club is a development of it.

The new club's objectives are to gain identity on campus, meet people with common interests, increase interest in the field of social welfare, understand the meaning of social work, and provide sources of information about employment opportunities.

Dr. J.N. Symons is the club advisor. The officers are President, James Rippy; Vice-President, Jed Erickson; and Secretary-Treasurer, Rebecca Jenkins.

"All persons interested are invited to attend Monday night's meeting," commented Mr. Erickson.
